

Projects of interest from our world of Safety & Security Film

'Duty of Care' is a statement that is used more than ever in modern society. From simple awareness of possible danger to complex threat assessment, building managers must consider the safety of people in and around the built environment.

Glass is often considered the weakest point in building. Windows that breaks in extreme climatic conditions or a result of terrorist action can cause major damage and serious injury. Flying sharp shards of glass can be avoided by installing clear window film designed to maintain the pane in one piece following impact.

DeSign Tints provides a range of films to deal with the specific nature to any threat. From film designed to bringing old glass up to current AS/NZS 2208, to bomb blast film for high threat public spaces, there is an advanced solution to solve your risk assessment.
